

PIDO Supports Inclusive Education Through Distribution of Scholastic Materials

Prime for an Inclusive and Developmental Organization (PIDO) distributed essential scholastic materials to 80 students with disabilities (32 male, 48 female) at Sewuhi Nigus Complete Elementary School.

The beneficiaries included 34 children with intellectual disabilities and 46 children with hearing impairments. Each student received notebooks and pens to support active participation in class.

This activity strengthens PIDO's commitment to inclusive and equitable education. It helps remove barriers, improve school attendance, and boost academic performance for children with disabilities.

By equipping students with basic learning tools, PIDO creates a more supportive school environment where every child can succeed.

PIDO remains dedicated to partnering with schools, parents, and communities to ensure no child with disabilities is left behind.

PIDO Supports Students with Visual Impairments Through Essential Clothing Support at Mekelle Boarding School for the Blind

Prime for an Inclusive and Developmental Organization (PIDO) provided essential clothing support to 29 students with visual impairments (19 boys and 10 girls) at Mekelle Boarding School for the Blind.

The support included trousers, jackets, shirts, Zuria, chiffon traditional dresses, tracksuits, sweaters, complete woollen sets, inner vests, T-shirts, and shoes. These items meet both comfort and dignity needs of the students.

Proper clothing enables the students to attend classes confidently, interact with peers without embarrassment, and maintain positive self-esteem. Teachers highlighted that this support is vital for residential students with limited resources.

PIDO continues to partner with schools and communities to build supportive environments where children with disabilities can learn, grow, and feel valued.

PIDO remains committed to inclusion and ensuring no child is left behind due to lack of necessities.

PIDO Supports Displaced Women at Adi Haki IDP Camp with Essential Clothing

Prime for an Inclusive and Developmental Organization (PIDO) provided essential clothing to 63 displaced women living at Adi Haki IDP camp. These women fled conflict in Western Tigray and now reside in school buildings under very difficult conditions.

PIDO distributed culturally appropriate items including Zuria, Tilfi, chiffon dresses, pyjamas, and other necessary garments. This support helps meet basic needs and restores dignity during a challenging time. The total cost of this support exceeded 500,000 ETB.

Proper clothing enables the women to attend community activities, meetings, and church services with confidence. It supports their self-esteem and active participation in camp life.

The needs in the camp remain extensive and require coordinated multisectoral response. PIDO continues to collaborate with community leaders, partners, and local authorities to identify gaps and deliver targeted assistance.

PIDO stays committed to promoting dignity, resilience, and hope for all people affected by the crisis in Tigray, Northern Ethiopia.
